Client's Brief

This is where it all begins. Deco File meets with the client to discuss the project in detail.

We gather all the information required for us to analyse what it would entail to bring out the best of what the client's vision is of their space is in line with functionality / use and what their brand represents

Site Analysis

Following the brief, we are then summoned to site to conduct a detailed analysis of the current status of the space / building. At this stage we verify site plans or take new measurements, pictures and reference all elements of the space that will impact on our technical planning and specifications

Conceptualizing, Space Planning & Design

The REAL creativity level – we call it.

A stage that begins with research in terms of design and theme we are proposing. We begin by ascertaining the style or the concept to best suit the clients brief, while developing space plans for the space for the client to approve. Design work then begins after the concepts are approved for budgeting and specialist contracting.

Implementation

At this stage all plans, designs, specified materials and budget have been approved by the client, we are ready to break ground on site. And its time to order all furniture and Shop fitting.
